Dear Parents/Carers

Re; Easter update

We are sharing the latest information regarding the Coronavirus outbreak to ensure that you have access to all the current available guidance.

<https://www.gov.uk/coronavirus>

During this difficult time, we are also offering you some ideas to help you continue your child's education as much as possible and to support you and your family. Your child's learning is of course important to us, so we will continue to help your child to learn. For our school community we have created a home learning team to regularly update educational resources, sample lessons, Queensbury TV on YouTube, GCSE pod and a range of other educational material.

These contain lots of support materials and we will keep it updated as much as we can over the next few weeks. Contact with will be maintained with you during these unprecedented times via our School Website. This is an exceptional circumstance for Queensbury School.

Additionally, parents or students can contact our welfare teams for advice and further support via email; welfare@queensbury.bham.sch.uk

On a final note, Easter is all about hope, faith and belief that the dark days of the life will never last. May you celebrate this Easter with a heart filled with hope. We wish a peaceful time to you and your family.

Yours Sincerely

Mr Chris Wilson

Interim Head Teacher
